James D. Harrington, CFA Joins West Chester Capital Investment Industry Veteran Brings Broad Experience and New Perspectives

West Chester, PA.; January 22, 2009 -- West Chester Capital Advisors is pleased to announce that James D. Harrington has joined the firm as a Principal and Senior Advisor. Jim is an industry veteran with extensive experience advising institutional and private wealth as well as working for institutional plan sponsors. "We are pleased to have such a quality professional join us" said Tom McKeon. "Jim brings a wealth of experience on both the plan sponsor and investment advisory side of the fence. Importantly, he has the right credentials, and an identical philosophy about objectivity and competence in the delivery of investment advisory services. He adds depth and a new perspective to our team and a whole new layer of expertise to West Chester Capital."

Harrington adds..."West Chester is the perfect fit for me...I can join a team of fellow professionals, and my approach to the investment advisory business is identical to theirs. West Chester has built a strong platform of products and services which are very competitive and address the significant needs of both private and institutional wealth. Moreover, West Chester is unique in that they have both portfolio management and asset allocation competencies, as well as extensive experience in the use of options as risk management and hedging tools. These advantages will help us deliver returns, manage risk and control costs, the trinity of investment advisory objectives. After recent market events, private and institutional investors alike need objective and quality advice more than ever to define and achieve their goals and re-organize a cost-effective program to meet them. West Chester Capital is uniquely positioned to do just that."
